DIGITAL INSIGHTS

The 15 Digital Trends Getting the Most Buzz Online

Introduction

It's impossible to predict which new digital trends and technologies will rise to the level that they become a part of our daily lives. But by looking at those with the biggest increases in online buzz—in news reports and blogs, in forums, and in posts and tweets on social media—it's clear that some concepts increasingly lead online conversations and may have more staying power.

Bell Pottinger Digital used its online listening tool, called Crimson Hexagon, to scrape all publicly available data from the Internet around certain topics identified to be leading digital trends, to see which among them saw the most exponential growth in online chatter over the past year. They are ranked below by the largest percent increase in mentions on the Web.

Key Take Out

"While technology will be one of the biggest drivers of marketing change in the new year, the key focus for brands will be on delivering truly integrated strategies, said James Thomlinson, partner and managing director of Bell Pottinger Digital. "Every year new hardware and software appears, but the most successful brands in 2015 will be those that harness new technology to deliver a single experience to consumers wherever they are in their journey."

DIGITAL 101

Digital Glossary

CACHE: Temporary copy of a collection of data. If accessing the original data is proving to be resource heavy (time-consuming), then users can access the cache bypassing having to reload the original data.

HIT: A hit, though often mistaken for a measure of popularity, is a request from a user's browser or web server to view a particular page, file or image.

KEYWORD: Words or phrases that result in a site being returned within the results for a particular search. Many sites' advertising strategies are based on keyword targeting, which means that a specific banner will only be displayed when certain words are entered PLUGIN: A software program installed and used by a web browser.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL: An RFP refers to an advertiser looking to arrange an agreement with a publisher.

USP: A unique selling proposition is what differentiates goods and services from their competitors.

Ray-Ban #Reflections App Takes Selfies To New Heights

Ray-Ban is out with a new iPhone app called Reflections – which is in perfect concert with the brand's Never Hide tagline.

Created by Belgium-based agency Gents, the app allows people to simultaneously enable their front and back iPhone cameras resulting in a double exposure image — Ray-Ban branded or not — of a person's face and whatever their back camera is pointing at.

Pyar ki tokri

The online shopping portal ShoppingSpree.pk has launched a Valentines campaign encouraging people to send loved ones Valentines gifts. The campaign, called 'Pyar ki Tokri' focuses on a variety of pre made baskets, including movie tickets from Cinepax and dinner vouchers from Nandos for the couple. The social platforms used for the campaign include Facebook, Instagram, Twitter and Pinterest.

MAD MEN – The Fan Cut

Ahead of Mad Men's final episodes this spring, the series has launched The Fan Cut, a contest that lets would-be auteurs remake scenes from the show's pilot episode in (almost) any way they see fit.

The first episode has been cut up into 154 clips ranging from 8 to 40 seconds long. Up to five fans can "claim" each scene, and they have 30 days to create and upload their own versions.

Ultimately, the entire pilot will be re-assembled and screened online based on select submissions.

Android Celebrates Unlikely Animal Buddies in Maybe the Cutest Spot Ever

The latest ad for Google's Android is hysterical, and adorable, as it features various pairings of different animal species playing and frolicking with each other. Baby rhinos and goats, lion cubs and puppies, bears and tigers—oh my.

Snickers' Brady Bunch Ad Wins First Super Clio for Best in the Big Game

New York is taking home the inaugural Super Clio for the best commercial in Sunday's Big Game. The agency's Brady Bunch ad for Snickers, featuring Sons of Anarchy actor Danny Trejo and Steve Buscemi, is the latest rendition of the "You're not you when you're hungry" pitch, launched in 2010. And it shows the campaign's jokes are only getting better over time.
